Yesterday, CMS released the proposed radiation oncology alternative payment model. As always, the release contains several pages of details that are hard to decipher. We are looking into the details, but rest assured, everything is going to be okay.

On the surface, there is a proposed 4% decrease in payment on the Medicare patient population in randomly selected areas; those areas have not yet been identified. RBS clients should remain calm; if you are chosen, we have the data that will be able to support and help with the transition.

Although the components of this model are meaningful, many past reductions in radiation oncology reimbursement have been overcome by increases in patient volumes and performance of MIPS reporting initiatives. In fact, 60% of our clients are seeing an increase in total revenue year over year from 2018-2019.

As this proposed rule enters into the comment period, we will be engaged in those discussions and outcomes. We will continue to communicate as we learn more, and stand ready to help navigate our clients through whatever the final outcome may be!
